Inner Peace!

What is deep within you is reflected without.

When there is order, harmony, beauty

And peace within, it will be reflected in everything you do, say and think.

Whereas, if there is confusion, disorder and disharmony within,

It cannot be hidden but will be reflected in your whole life and living.

When you decide to change, it has to start from within and work out.

It is only then it will last and nothing will be able to throw it off balance.

We cannot sit back and expect change, we have to get into action and do something about it.

We can do our own changing without any further delay.

If there are any hold-ups they are within ourselves.

We all need to withdraw from the world

From time to time to find that inner peace which passes all understanding.
