Reflection

May you choose you today, too.

Just leaving this here today as a reminder that you matter too. Your needs matter, your experience matters, your feelings matter.

For people pleasers this can be one of the hardest acts of selfcare to choose but today I'm gently offering that you start to see your own worth, start to lean inwards and offer yourself the same care that you so generously give to others. Don't disregard yourself.

Sending love as always to anyone needing these words today.
